Content Overview: This is a drawing class that deals exclusively with the human form. The approach is to introduce the figure as an element in a completed work. Although it remains the dominate form it is never isolated from the environment in which it exists. You will be introduced to a number of mediums with the intent of requiring the student to be present, not only to the model, but to the formal and physical aspects of the drawing.

Course Objectives: Students will leave this course with an understanding of basic drawing principles and techniques with regard to the figure as the basic subject matter. In addition they will have improved observational skills and a greater appreciation of figure drawing as a unique perceptual experience. In addition we will explore traditional and contemporary approaches and attitudes towards the figure with the intent of being informed visual artists.

Teaching and Learning Methods
This is a hand on class. Students will work while the instructor circulates, offering one-on-one assistance. Homework will require students to use some of the same techniques as in the class problems with the intent of furthering his or her understanding and resolving issues time did not allow. Several times throughout the semester, the class will pause to critique work. Each student is expected to contribute to these group sessions by applying learned concepts.
Evaluation Methods
Participation & Grades
The student’s grade will rest on the completion of all assigned work, participation/attendance, grasp of the basic concepts and participation in class critiques as well as effort and improvement. This is not an independent study. Students are allowed up to three absences, each additional absence could result in a half letter grade deduction. Students will be required to keep a portfolio that will include assignments done in class and out. It is expected that the student will spend an equivalent amount of time outside of class on assigned work. Work assigned to be completed outside of class must be in on the assigned date. Work will be accepted after the initial deadline for up to two weeks but will receive a half letter grade reduction for each class period after the deadline. It will not be accepted after that and will receive a failing grade. I will make accommodations for students who face circumstances that might require extra time but I must be notified in advance, (communication is key.)

Evaluation Procedures: Final grade for this course will be determined according to the following:
• Timely completion of studio and homework projects that fulfill course criteria.
• Studio projects you submit for this course will reflect your ability to successfully integrate into an artwork the strategies identified in each assignment. Studio projects are to be presented for critique in a completed and finished state.
• Quality of the technical execution.
• Challenge piece presents to the student both technically and conceptually.
• Verbal presentation of artworks during critique.
• Active participation in all group critiques of studio projects.
• Adherence to the attendance policy, (see above) outlined in this syllabus.
• Responsible studio behavior as outlined in a subsequent section of this syllabus.

Electronic Devices
Cell phone usage of any kind is not permitted during class time, no phone calls, and no text messages. No headphones.

Faculty and Student Responsibilities
All students are expected to maintain professional behavior in the classroom setting, according to the Student Code, spelled out in the Student Handbook. Students have specific rights in the classroom as detailed in Article III of the Code. The Code also specifies prescribed conduct (Article XI) that involves cheating on tests, plagiarism, and/or collusion, as well as fraud, theft, etc. Students should read the Code carefully and know they are responsible for the content. According to Faculty Rules and Regulations, it is the faculty responsibility to enforce responsible classroom behaviors, beginning with verbal warnings and progressing to dismissal from class and a failing grade. Students have the right to appeal such action to the Student Behavior Committee.
