Welcome to the Department of Art & Art History

The MFA Program in Studio Art welcomes applicants with an outstanding record of creative activity. In our program, you can specialize in Community-Based Art Education, Ceramics, Graphic Design, Illustration, Painting and Drawing, Photography and Digital Imaging, Printmaking, and Sculpture Intermedia. We expect you will have a BFA degree in art or a cognate discipline, such as architecture or design, and a sincere commitment to graduate study demands.

The two-year residential MFA program in studio art is for those fully committed to living as artists through superior creative work, discipline, and self-motivation. By the end of the program, you will demonstrate a mature and intelligent conceptualization of your work and a general understanding of the different perspectives in contemporary art. In the program, you can master the techniques and technologies needed to realize your career goals.

The department has a broad range of excellent facilities with specialized equipment. The Art and Sculpture Buildings include a woodshop and tool room, a print shop, spray booths, digital imaging and audio computer labs, a laser cutter, 3D printers, large format printers, darkrooms, a plaster room, metal fabrication and foundry rooms, photography lighting studio, ceramic wheel and glaze rooms, and a variety of kilns, including a car kiln. The bookmaking and letterpress studio in the J. Willard Marriott Library is another resource available to our graduate students. The Gittins Gallery, located in the Film and Media Arts building, is the department's primary exhibition venue. The D. Ray Owen Reading Room/Computer Lab, with a collection of books and magazines on contemporary art, negative, large, and small flatbed scanners, Wacom tablets, and professional inkjet printers, is open to graduates 24 hours a day. The Katherine W. Dumke Fine Arts and Architecture library, part of the Creativity & Innovations Services at the J. Willard Marriott Library, is a vast art resource available to all our graduate students. Their services include an extensive collection of artists' books, digital labs, 3D fabrication equipment, and creative studios and spaces. The Utah Museum of Fine Arts is home to worldwide art with concentrations in Asian, American, and 20th-century and Contemporary Art.

Our graduate students benefit enormously from meeting and working with artists invited to our department as part of the Carmen M. Christensen Visiting Artist/Scholar Lecture Series and the Warnock Artist in Residency Program. For the Christensen visiting artists, the faculty selects a slate of individuals annually who contribute to their visual arts disciplines. The artists are invited to present an artist's talk, work with classes, and do studio visits with our graduate students. The Marva and John Warnock biennial residency program is an essential catalyst for dialogue encompassing contemporary artmaking issues, pedagogy, interdisciplinary and collaborative work, art in the community, and art as activism. The program aims to expose students to new, innovative, and diverse contemporary art practices while providing an opportunity for trilateral exchange amongst students, faculty, and the public. The artist-in-residence will lead a Master Class during the Spring semester.

Both degrees require a minimum of six hours of ART 6975 Final Project, which is required to prepare the Final Project and the MFA Exhibition. Admission Requirements & Procedures

All graduate applicants to the University of Utah must meet the following minimum Graduate School requirements:

- A bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited US college or university. The Office of Admissions will determine if an applicant's degree meets the Graduate School's requirement of a recognized bachelor's degree.
- At least a 3.0 or higher undergraduate weighted mean GPA on a 4.0 scale. If the undergraduate GPA is below 3.0, a GPA will be calculated based on the last 60 semester hours (90 quarter hours) if the student attended a US institution.
- Meet the academic department's admission standards and receive a recommendation for admission to their program.

The University of Utah Admissions Office utilizes the Slate website for all online graduate applications. <https://futureu.admissions.utah.edu/apply/> Follow the link to begin your application process. You will then select the "Create an Account" hyperlink to start.

THE DEADLINE IS JANUARY 15TH.

During the application process, you must submit the following items:

- A letter of intent and a detailed artist statement that addresses the following:
 - Describe current artistic interests, the direction of your work, preferred area of study influences, and why.
 - Write any relevant experiences that have prepared you as an artist, and describe why it is the right time to attend graduate school.
 - Describe your professional goals and how you plan to achieve them while in school and after.
 - Please describe what you can contribute, initiate, and risk as a community member.

- Why is this program a good fit for you?

Please be aware that the faculty most often recommend admissions to individuals with a studio art background, which generally includes 40 undergraduate credits and a minimum of 12 credits in art history (quarter equivalents apply).

- A CV or resume that includes your complete contact information, your educational background, and any honors or awards. If you have any teaching experience, please list it as well.
- Please provide the names and emails of three (3) people who can write letters of recommendation that speak to your creative talent and your ability to succeed in a rigorous academic program (academic references from former or current professors are preferable to those from employers). They will receive an email from the admissions office with a custom link where they will be asked to fill out a questionnaire and upload their letters.
- Portfolio.
 - It needs to be a high-resolution (suggested 300 PPI) single PDF file.
 - Your portfolio should contain 20 images.
 - Post one work per page with a maximum of 2 images per page. For example, you might have a full view and then a detail on the same page. Use multiple pages if more views are necessary to understand the piece.
 - Add a text description at the bottom of each page with the following information: Title, Dimensions, Medium, Date completed (the year is sufficient).
 - To submit videos or sound files, you must first upload them to a website such as Box, Google Drive, Dropbox, OneDrive, Vimeo, or YouTube. Once the file is hosted, please provide the URL in the PDF.
- Transcripts from each college or university attended. They can be unofficial for now, but the admissions office requires official transcripts if you are offered a position in our program.
- Complete the application form and pay the applicable fee. The non-refundable graduate application fee for domestic applicants is $55, and for international students is $65.
- For international students, an English language proficiency test score is required. Please visit the Admission's English Proficiency page to answer your questions and submit the scores. Your tests must have been completed within two years of submitting your application and paying your application fee. This is the current list of acceptable tests and scores:
 - TOEFL: 80 or higher
 - IELTS: 6.5 or higher
 - DUOLINGO: 105 or higher
 - ACT English score of 18 or higher
 - SAT Reading score of 27 or higher

*Note: Reading scores are not reported as part of the digital SAT. This option is only available to students who take the paper-based test.

Please visit the Graduate Students Admissions web page for further instructions about the application process. You can check the status of your submission by contacting info@art.utah.edu or (801) 581-8677.

Transfer Credits

The University of Utah only allows six (6) graduate-level credit hours to be transferred from another accredited institution. Refer to the Graduate School Website (<https://gradschool.utah.edu/current-students/forms/>) and the Graduate Transfer Credit Authorization Form.

APPROVAL CRITERIA REQUIRED TO POSTGRADUATE TRANSFER CREDITS TO A STUDENT'S ACADEMIC RECORD:

1. Graduate credit may only be transferred from other regionally accredited institutions.
2. Credits transferred from another institution may be used for only one degree.
3. Students must be formally admitted to a graduate program of study.
4. Up to six semester hours of transfer credit may be applied toward fulfilling graduate degree requirements at the University of Utah.
5. The courses must have a letter grade of "B" or higher.
6. "Credit only" grades are not acceptable.
7. Coursework must be recommended by the student's supervisory committee and taken within four years of the semester of admission to the University of Utah for master's students and within seven years of the semester of admission to the University of Utah for doctoral students.

The graduate student's committee chair, with the help of the director of MFA graduate studies, will review the transcript with the student to assess which courses should be included on the form for transfer review.

International Students

If you are an international student, please visit the Graduate Admissions website (<https://admissions.utah.edu/international-graduate/>) for the necessary information to complete your application.

The Department of Art & Art History values the global community, and we welcome students from all countries. Being an international student has unique advantages and challenges, especially as you adjust to your studies in a new country and culture. We encourage all our international students to use the resources available and seek involvement in departmental, campus, and civic communities.

Program Coursework for General MFA in Studio Art

Students typically enroll in 12-15 credit hours each Fall and Spring Semester; some graduate students also take courses during the Summer Term to complete the program in two years. Students awarded a teaching assistantship must register for a minimum of 9 credit hours. The Graduate School's Tuition Benefit Program for a teaching assistantship applies only to the first 12 hours per semester; tuition for the remaining hours and full tuition in the Summer Term is the student's obligation. Your final program of study is determined with the help of your graduate committee.

Studio Art Specialization

You will complete 26 hours with the faculty in your primary area of specialization. You will enroll in the 6000-level Graduate Project courses as directed studies. Before the semester begins, you must meet with the faculty member you wish to work with and formulate the objectives and goals of the class. Your Graduate Study Contract (available online) should include a description of the objectives and outline the frequency and scheduling of critiques. You and the faculty member must sign it before it is returned to the department's graduate coordinator. After you pay the course fee to the department, the graduate coordinator will issue you the class and permission numbers to enroll. All graduate coursework, except for a few classes such as ART 6810 Graduate Seminar (3 credits), has variable credit, generally from 2 to 6. You and the faculty member will decide how many credits you will earn for the 6000-level Graduate Project during the semester.

ART 6810 Graduate Seminar & ART 6815 Graduate Critique

You must take ART 6810 for 9 hours and ART 6815 Graduate Critique for 3 hours. The courses are offered in the Fall and Spring semesters of the two-year MFA program. The course rotates among full-time faculty who bring a different perspective each time they teach it. The class is taught on conceptual issues, criticism, practical matters of preparing a teaching portfolio, professional practices, and preparation to become a studio artist.

Allied Studio Credits

Allied fields are research outside your studio specialization, perhaps in another discipline. You need to take a minimum of 10 hours. With the approval of your supervisory committee, you may take a graduate course from a different department (5000 level or above) within the university. This coursework should enrich your studio work or increase your awareness of the arts and humanities.

Art History Credits

The Art History Program has established ARTH 6000-60005 for the required 6 hours of art history coursework. The art history faculty member uses one of the numbers with one of their 4000-level lecture courses. You should consult the university schedule to find the 4000-level course you are interested in and email the professor for permission to enroll as an MFA student. The faculty member will provide the student with the appropriate ARTH 6000-level number. Almost all the 6000 Art History courses are for MA students, but the instructor may let MFA students sign up after they have contacted the instructor.

ART 6975 Final Project: MFA

The course awards credits for studio work, research, and writing leading to the MFA Exhibition, their artist talk, and their Final Project Paper. Graduates sign up for a minimum of six credit hours, three hours of ART 6975-001 (the department chairperson is listed as the instructor of record), and three hours of ART 6975-002 (with the director of graduate studies as the instructor of record). You are allowed to sign up for 3 to 9 hours for each section. The graduate committee assigns the grade for each course and then gives it to the graduate coordinator to ensure the instructor of record inputs the final grades. Suppose the student signs up for the class but does not complete the work in time. In that case, the instructor of record will issue a "T" grade, signifying continuing work until the final requirements are completed (MFA Exhibition, Final Oral Examination, Final Project paper, and MFA Exhibition Documentation). Once the final work is complete, the instructor of record submits a grade change to the registrar's office to correct the grade.

ART 6560 - Graduate Art Education Seminar: Artist as Cultural Worker and ART 6580 - Graduate Art Teaching Practicum

You are required to take 10 hours from a combination of both courses. With your committee, you will determine which class will be taken each semester and for how many hours. These courses are only taught by the arts teaching faculty, who will more than likely be on your graduate committee, making it easier to schedule these classes.

First Year Review

The supervisory committee will review your studio and academic work with you near the end of your first year of residency or the Spring semester. The review results will be presented to you in a written memorandum that declares whether you have permission to apply for candidacy, continue in the second year with recommendations, or must have a second review. If the committee decides a second probationary review is needed, it is generally scheduled at the end of the Summer Term to give you sufficient time to produce the work required to lift probation. While you may register for Summer Term classes, you cannot enroll for the second year until your status is restored. If you do not pass the second review, you are ineligible for a teaching assistantship until one semester after the probationary status is lifted.

Final Project and Defense

The final project, consisting of your exhibition, defense, final project, and artist talk, is completed during your final semester of study. Your supervisory committee will hold the defense in your exhibition space. It is usually scheduled a day or so after your artist talk. The Final Project paper must be completed by the end of that semester. If any portion of the final project is not completed by the end of the semester, the student will not graduate.

Supervisory Committee Formation

For the first semester of your program, the director of graduate studies will form your initial mentoring committee of three department studio art faculty members, chaired by one faculty member in your specialization.

Committee Chairperson

The chair must be a tenured professor in your area of study. There are instances when the chair may be a tenured faculty member from a different area. Those circumstances will be decided after a discussion with the director of graduate students, the department chairperson, and the graduate student. The chairperson is your primary faculty mentor. They must also sign off on your First-Year Review form, Program of Study, and Defense paperwork.

Committee Selection

Students must request a permanent three-member committee at the end of the first semester and no later than the beginning of the second semester. In consultation with the director of MFA graduate studies, you should approach full-time regular faculty to discover their willingness and availability to serve. Per the Graduate School's policies, the committee chair and the majority of the members must be tenure-track faculty. The committee chair should be in your area of specialization, and at least one member should be from an area outside your discipline. You may consider a faculty member from the Art History Program or another department as the third committee member, invited because of their unique expertise. You will complete a Request to Form/Change Supervisory Committee form (available online) for the signatures of your supervisory committee and the director of MFA graduate studies. The graduate coordinator will deliver you a copy of the final approved form.

Required Meetings

You are asked to meet with the committee a minimum of three times each semester, but requesting more visits is encouraged.

Supervisory Committee Roles

We strongly recommend you convene a meeting of your initial mentoring committee within the first few weeks of the semester. At the first meeting, you and the committee should discuss your background and artistic direction and decide on any remedial coursework. We invite you to take full advantage of our mentoring as you begin your first semester of graduate study.

Upon appointment of your permanent supervisory committee, the committee chair will convene a planning meeting with you and your committee members. At this time, the committee will review your academic performance and progress, advise on the remainder of the coursework, and discuss your artistic direction. You may also, at this time, petition the supervisory committee to recommend acceptance of a maximum of nine semester credit hours of non-matriculated graduate coursework, subject to Graduate School conditions. Once your coursework is approved, any changes must receive a unanimous vote by your committee. You are responsible for regularly informing your supervisory committee chair of your progress through the program.

Your committee is crucial to your graduate program. It is responsible for helping you shape a practical course of study, guiding the installation of the MFA exhibition, administering the Final Oral Examination, and reading and approving the Final Project paper. The committee is your chief advocate for the department, the College of Fine Arts, and the Graduate School.

At the end of both the Fall and Spring semesters of every year, a student supervisory committee evaluation/review will result in one of the following actions:

- Positive supervisory committee reviews allow one to progress with their graduate studies.
- Counseled Out - If a student's ongoing work in any area of the curriculum or consultation with the supervisory committee is unacceptable, irrespective of grades received, they will remain on probation or be advised out of the program as per the decision of the eligible department studio faculty who serve on the MFA committee.

Changing Committee Chair & Committee Members

As noted above, students are asked to form their permanent graduate committee by the end of their first semester, no later than the beginning of their second semester. If a faculty member retires or leaves the university before the student graduates, the student, with help from their remaining committee and the director of graduate studies, will ask another faculty member to join the committee.

There are instances when the relationship between a graduate student and a committee member becomes troublesome. In those instances, a meeting with the department chairperson (and associate chair), the director of graduate students, and the graduate student may need to happen. During the meeting, we will decide if the relationship between the student and faculty needs to continue or if the student needs to select a replacement faculty member. If it is agreed upon to change a committee member, the graduate student will work with the director of graduate studies and the department chairperson to select a more suitable committee member.

Final Project Requirements

The Final Project consists of an exhibition, artist talk, defense (oral exams), final project paper, and exhibition documentation.

Exhibition and Defense

The exhibition can be held on or off campus. If it is on campus, the exhibition dates will be assigned by the director of graduate studies, with input from the graduate committee, after the student has passed the first-year review. The exhibitions are during the spring semester, before or after spring break. The graduate student must let the director of MFA graduate studies or the graduate coordinator know the exhibition opening event dates so that they can be added to the department calendars and website. The student must also let the DoGS know the defense date so that necessary forms can be sent to the graduate committee chairperson.

Artist Talk

The student is required to give an artist's talk. The talk is usually held before the exhibition opening event. The student is asked to discuss their artistic practice and their journey to creating the body of artwork in their MFA exhibition. The talk should be around 45 minutes long, with 15 minutes for questions and answers.

Final Oral Examination

The examination occurs during the MFA Exhibition and is held in the space where the show is installed. You will be asked to discuss your conceptual insight and technical proficiency concerning your studio work and general professional awareness of contemporary art. You must be registered for at least 3 hours of ART 6975 -001 MFA Final Project during the MFA Exhibition and Final Oral Examination semester.

Final Project Paper

In consultation with your supervisory committee, you will write a comprehensive essay, approximately 10-20 pages long, that reveals the state of your creative research. The paper is designed to represent the culmination of two years of graduate work. A revised draft should be submitted to your supervisory committee before the Final Oral Examination as the written counterpart to the MFA Exhibition. An official digital copy must be submitted by the end of the semester to be uploaded into the Marriott Library Intellectual Repository database. The graduate student must also sign the J. Willard Marriott Library Publishing Agreement and return it to the graduate coordinator.

- The paper needs to be organized in the following manner.
 - Title page
 - Copyright page
 - Supervisory Committee Approval form with the original signatures in black ink
 - Final Reading Approval form with the original signatures in black ink
 - Body of the text – it should include images of your artwork
 - Appendices – should include at least 15 images of the exhibition

You must be registered for a minimum of 3 hours of ART 6975-002 MFA Final Project during the Artist Talk and Final Project Paper semester.

Refer to the Important Forms sections at the end of the handbook for templates of the necessary pages required for the Final Project Paper.

MFA Exhibition Documentation

You must digitally document all the work within the MFA Exhibition and provide a USB thumb drive or shareable URL of the images. Twenty or more images will become part of the department's digital database and be housed in its Visual Resources Collection. With the portfolio, please submit a completed copy of the MFA Exhibition/Repository Collection Documentation form to the Department of Art & Art History Visual Resources Specialists. Refer to the Important Forms section at the end of the handbook for a copy of the form.

Applying for Graduation

Graduate students must apply for graduation at the beginning of the semester they expect to graduate. This is done online through CIS. Please visit the registrar's website for further details and application dates: <https://registrar.utah.edu/handbook/graduategraduation.php>

Expectations for Participation

Warnock Artist-in-Residence Class

With gratitude to Marva and John Warnock's generous endowment, the department invites a contemporary artist every other Spring semester to work with our graduates and selected undergraduate seniors. The artists in residence program aim to expose our students to new, innovative, and diverse contemporary art practices while providing trilateral exchange opportunities amongst students, faculty, and the public. The artist-in-residence will lead a Master Class during the Spring semester. We encourage all our graduate students to take advantage of this opportunity and sign up for this course.

Visiting Artists

Each year, the department invites numerous visiting artists to visit the campus, work with our students and give an artist talk about their creative research. This is possible with appreciation from the Carmen Morton Christensen Endowed Lecture Series. As an MFA student, we expect you to attend the lectures and workshops. Sometimes, you will have lunch with the visiting artist or have them conduct a studio visit.

Open Studio Event

During the Fall semester, we ask the graduate students to hold an open student event where members of the university community and beyond can come and see our graduates' research. We encourage this as a way for the graduates to meet more faculty within the department, inspire undergraduate students, and network with individuals in and out of the department.

Interim Show

During the end of the fall semester, we ask the graduate students to facilitate the Interim Show in the Gittins Gallery. It is a chance for the graduates to practice organizing, curating, and conducting an exhibition. It also allows the undergraduate students, faculty, and larger community to see our graduate students' artwork in a formal setting.

MFA Studio Arts Club

We encourage all our graduate students to participate in the MFA Student Club, sanctioned by the Student Leadership and Involvement through ASUU. As a club, it allows our graduates to apply for Fine Arts Fee Grants through the College of Fine Arts. The grants can help fund open studio events, interim shows, field trips, invitations to artists to hold workshops or do studio visits, etc. The club consists of the following officers: president, vice president, and secretary. The faculty mentor will be the director of Graduate Studies.

SAC Committee Representative

The Student Advisory Committee is an organization within the College of Fine Arts that helps facilitate cooperation, communication, and interaction between students, student groups, faculty, staff, and administrators. We ask one graduate student to be the SAC representative for the committee. The graduate representative rotates between MFA and MA students. To learn more about the responsibilities and expectations of the SAC rep, please visit the College of Fine Arts website (<https://finearts.utah.edu/students/student-advisory-committee> or <https://finearts.utah.edu/students/current-undergraduates/leadership?highlight=WYJzYWMiXQ==>).

Yearly Town Hall Meeting

At the end of every Fall semester, the director of MFA graduate studies and the department chair will conduct a town hall meeting with all the graduate students. The meeting is a way for the graduate students to provide feedback in a safe and open space about the positives of the program and ways we can improve it.

Community at Large

We expect our graduates to engage in the larger artist community outside the Department of Art & Art History to network, build relationships with other artists, and experience the creative community in and around the Wasatch Front. We encourage our students to visit local art galleries and participate in opening events. We encourage our graduates to submit artwork to local and regional juried exhibitions.

Academic Requirements and Policies

Minimum GPA

The candidate must maintain a 3.0 or higher GPA in coursework listed on the Program of Study for master's degrees. The university does not accept a grade below C- toward a graduate degree.

Continuous Registration

All graduate students must be registered for at least one course from the time of formal admission through completing all requirements for their desired degree unless granted an official leave of absence. Students must be registered during the summer term if they are taking examinations or defending theses/dissertations during that term. Students are not required to sign up for summer courses between their first and second years, and we encourage them to take advantage of the facilities during that time.

If students do not comply with this continuous registration policy and do not obtain an official leave of absence, they will be automatically discontinued from graduate study. In this case, students will be required to reapply for admission to the University through Graduate Admissions upon approval of the home department. Students should be registered for graduate-level courses (5000-6000 level for master's; 6000-7000 level for doctoral) until they have completed all requirements for the degree, including the exhibition, artist talk, final project paper, and defense of the project.

Credit/No-Credit Courses

Candidates must receive a CR (credit) grade for credit/no-credit courses in the Department. If a student receives a grade of NC (no credit), that course must be repeated. An NC grade will place that student on probation and trigger an immediate and mandatory supervisory committee and eligible department studio faculty who serve on the MFA committee's review of that student, who will be required to justify their continuance within the program. This review may result in removing that student from the MFA Program. Two NC grades for coursework taken within the Department will result in the removal of that student from the MFA Program.

Leave of Absence

Official language from the Graduate School website (<https://gradschool.utah.edu/graduate-catalog/registration>):

Students who wish to discontinue their studies for one or more semesters (other than summer term) must complete a Request for Leave of Absence Form. The form must be approved and signed by the supervisory committee chair and department chair and then forwarded to the Registrar's Office for processing.

Requests for leaves of absence may be granted for up to one year for circumstances related to:

- a serious health condition of the student or family member,
- parental leave to care for a newborn or newly adopted child,
- a call to serve in military service, or
- other compelling reasons that the student's department believes are in the best interests of both the student and the university.

The form requesting a leave of absence for a current semester must be completed and received in the Office of the Registrar by the last day of classes of that semester. Leaves of absence are not granted retroactively. Students must officially withdraw from classes in any semester for which a leave is granted; failure to formally withdraw results in reporting E or EU grades for all classes. For more information about official withdrawal, see Grading Policies in the Undergraduate Information section of this catalog.

The period during which a leave of absence is granted does not count toward the period allowed to complete the degree. Leaves are granted for a maximum of one year at a time and may be renewed by submitting a new form to the Office of the Registrar. The leave of absence is void if a student registers for classes in a semester for which a leave was granted.

Family & Medical Leave

Students who need time off for caregiving can take up to 16 weeks for a Family Leave of Absence. Students who experience a medical condition associated with their pregnancy and need accommodations recommended by their medical provider should contact the Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action.

Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action (OEO/AA)
135 Park Building
Salt Lake City, UT 84112
801-581-8365
oeo@utah.edu

The Title IX Coordinator will work with the student, cognizant faculty, and administration to determine reasonable and effective accommodations. The student will be ineligible for financial support and may be required to relinquish studio space during the semester of familial leave.

Please talk with the director of MFA graduate studies if you wish to apply for Family Leave.

From the OEO/AA website:

University policy prohibits discrimination based on sex/gender, including pregnant and parenting students and employees. State and federal laws, including Title IX of the Education Act, also prohibit discrimination based on sex, including pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions. If you believe you have been subject to discrimination, including having been denied an accommodation for a pregnancy or pregnancy-related condition, please discuss this with the director of graduate studies and/or the Deputy Title IX Coordinator for your college. You may file a complaint with the OEO/AA. <https://oeo.utah.edu/>

Leaving the Program Early

Supervisory Committee Recommendation for Leave

The MFA Program focuses on mature, in-depth artistic and scholarly research. Success in completing the Master of Fine Arts degree requires self-directed thought and sustained and completed efforts in all coursework and departmental responsibilities. It also requires responsibility, accountability, and collegiality in dealings with the faculty, other students, and the department at large. If the eligible department studio faculty who serve on the MFA committee agrees at any time that the candidate's comportment is counterproductive to sustaining the collegial dynamics necessary to complete all requirements and maintain the decorum those endeavors require (which include but are not limited to classroom seminars, studio classes, and TA responsibilities), that student will be called in for discussions with the department chair, director of MFA graduate studies and any other relevant faculty for the sake of due process. If the student is found at fault and unable or unwilling to implement the correctives discussed and agreed upon in writing by the Department chair and director of MFA graduate studies, the candidate may be dismissed from the MFA Program.

Voluntary Leave

If a student voluntarily withdraws from the program, they must inform their committee chairperson and the director of graduate studies. If the student leaves at the end of the semester, they must clean out their studio and return the key to the graduate coordinator. If the student withdraws in the middle of the semester, depending on their Teaching Assistantship responsibilities, the student will have to pay back any Tuition Benefit credits that had been applied. The department chairperson and area head for that course will have to find a replacement instructor.

Time Limit to Degree

Graduate School policy for master's degrees (<https://gradschool.utah.edu/graduate-catalog/degree-requirements>):

All work for the master's degree must be completed within four consecutive calendar years. On the recommendation of the student's supervisory committee, the dean of The Graduate School can modify or waive this requirement. If the student exceeds the time limit and is not granted a modification or waiver, the department has the option to discontinue the student. Students whose studies have been interrupted for long periods and who have been granted extended time to complete their degrees may be required to complete additional courses, pass examinations, or otherwise demonstrate that they are current in their field.

Dismissal Policies & Procedures

Probation after First Year Review

The graduate committee will administer probationary Review/Comprehensive Exams, which will review studio and academic work in the Spring Semester at the end of the first year of residency. The review results will be presented in a written document that declares whether the student can apply for candidacy, continue in the second year with recommendations, or receive a request for a formal second review.

If the student receives recommendations, those will be provided to the student in writing. The graduate committee can also recommend that a student be kept as a teaching assistant and not assigned a course as the instructor of record during the Fall semester of their second year. At the end of that semester, if the committee agrees, the student may be asked to teach a course during the Spring semester as the instructor of record.

If the graduate committee decides a second probationary review is required, the details will be provided to the graduate in writing. The secondary review should be scheduled one week before the beginning of the Fall semester, allowing sufficient time to produce the work required to lift the probation. While registration for summer semester courses is permitted, students cannot enroll for the second-year courses until probation is lifted. The student may also lose their Tuition Benefits during the Fall semester. The graduate committee and the director of MFA graduate studies will decide. This information will be provided to the graduate student in writing. Once a student meets departmental academic standards, the student is considered in good standing and will receive their tuition Benefit for the Spring semester. Their probation will remain on their record.

Suppose a student's probation is not lifted after the formal Probationary Review/Comprehensive Exams period, and retention policy standards are not sustained. In that case, the prerogative of the graduate committee and eligible department studio faculty who serve on MFA committees can terminate the student's standing in the program. The dismissal procedure will be as follows:

- a. To notify the student in writing, stating the dismissal reasons and indicating a formal termination date at least 15 days after the date of the letter. A copy of the letter will be sent to the Department chair and the director of MFA graduate studies.
- b. Suppose the student is being paid as a TA. In that case, the Department will continue the current TA support until the end of the termination semester, contingent on the TA duties being carried out conscientiously.
- c. The student will vacate the assigned studio in good condition; return all keys to the Art Office, room 161, and any departmental equipment at the end of the termination semester.

Financial Support

The Department of Art & Art History provides opportunities for students to serve as teaching assistants during the two-year program through the Graduate School Tuition Benefit Program. The Tuition Benefit provides a 100% tuition discount, up to 24 credit hours a year, and a stipend set by the Graduate School.

Teaching Assistant Responsibilities & Policies

At the beginning of each semester, the director of MFA graduate studies will send the faculty mentor a TA Responsibility form to be filled out with the graduate student. The graduate will be asked to work up to 20 hours a week. This information will be on the TA Responsibilities form. The form should be filled out thoroughly, and all responsibilities and duties expected of the TA during the semester should be explained. This may include class setup and take down, assisting in lectures, grading physical and virtual artwork, student mentoring, and room and prop maintenance. The TA must return the form to the graduate coordinator before the second week of classes.

During the semester, the TA must fill out a Timesheet documenting what they have done in and out of class. The form must be returned to the graduate coordinator at the end of the semester. The graduate school requires the timesheets.

Tuition Waivers

As part of the Graduate School Tuition Benefits, students are offered 100% off in-state rates as Teaching Assistants. The Tuition Benefit discount covers up to 12 credit hours per semester. The Department of Art & Art History only provides Tuition Benefits for Fall and Spring semesters. Since our program is an intensive two-year program, we ask our students to sign up for 15 credit hours each semester to complete their research. The graduates must pay for at least three credit hours each semester.

More information on the Graduate School Tuition Benefits Program and relevant deadlines can be found here: <https://gradschool.utah.edu/funding/tbp/guidelines.php>.

Stipends

As part of the Tuition Benefit program, graduate students are offered a stipend. The Graduate School sets the stipend amount. The graduates are expected to work up to 20 hours a week. The graduate student will receive a contract each semester explaining their stipend amount, hours required, and TA responsibilities. Your first contract will be provided at orientation. Each subsequent semester contract is sent out at least six weeks before the semester. Graduates must sign the contracts and return them to the graduate coordinator as soon as possible.

For further details, refer to the Graduate School Tuition Benefits Program website (<https://gradschool.utah.edu/funding/tbp/guidelines.php>).

Student Health Insurance

As part of the Tuition Benefit, students are entitled to sign up for the Graduate Subsidized Health Insurance Program (GSHIP), funded by the Graduate School.

Graduate School language on student insurance subsidy and relevant deadlines can be found here: <https://gradschool.utah.edu/tbp/insurance-information>.

Residency

The Graduate School urges students classified as out of state to apply for residency upon completing 40 hours. Residency status does not affect a graduate student's eligibility for TA payment; a TA award will convert out-of-state tuition to in-state rates. For the complete Utah residency policies and forms to change residency status, please visit <https://admissions.utah.edu/information-resources/residency/>.

Graduate School Opportunities

- Graduate students in good standing are eligible to apply for a Graduate Research Fellowship or University Teaching Assistantship ($24,000 plus tuition) for their second year. Consult the Graduate School website (<https://gradschool.utah.edu/graduate-financial-resources/>) for further information on these and other financial resources. The proposals for both of these opportunities are due by the end of December of your first fall semester.
 - If a student is interested in applying to either the GRF or UTA, they must let the director of graduate studies know and submit a copy of the rough draft by December 1st. This way, the DoGS can help the graduate student with any language and requirements for the application, plus let them know the department designee. It is up to the chairperson who the designee is for these opportunities.
- The Graduate School Research Supplemental Travel Award is available to graduate students who will present their creative research at a professional conference. Application is made through the Graduate School; up to $500 may be granted, to be matched by department funding. The online form is available through the Graduate School website.

Student & Faculty Codes

Code of Conduct

The Graduate School is committed to fostering excellence in our community of scholars and leaders. We recognize that diverse and inclusive teams are most likely to produce creative and impactful scholarship and are eager to ensure that each member of our academic community is respected and valued for their unique contributions. This Code of Conduct upholds the Graduate School's commitment to conduct graduate and postdoctoral education according to the highest ethical and professional standards in compliance with all applicable University, state, and federal regulations.

The Graduate School is committed to providing a safe, harassment-free environment for everyone. Harassment includes offensive comments or denigrating jokes related to nationality, gender, sexual orientation, disability, age, physical appearance, body size, race, religion, or veterans' status; sexual images in public spaces; deliberate intimidation, stalking, following, harassing photography or recording; inappropriate physical contact; unwelcome sexual attention and harassment through social media.

The Graduate School is committed to an environment free of discrimination at all levels and one that is equitable, diverse, and inclusive.

University of Utah Community

All University faculty, staff, and students are expected to comply with the applicable anti-harassment, anti-discrimination, and scientific and professional ethics laws and policies in effect at the University of Utah and the institutions where they may be visiting.

Report a Violation

Members of the University of Utah community who wish to report a violation of this Code of Conduct are encouraged to speak to or contact the appropriate administrator or dean, including the department chair or director of MFA graduate studies of their academic program, the Dean of the Graduate School or Associate/Assistant Deans of the Graduate School, or the University's Title IX coordinator.

Visitors

Visitors, including participants at any University or Graduate School-sponsored events, are expected to comply with these same standards and policies at their place of employment. In addition to any applicable reporting requirements at their home site, visitors are encouraged to report violations here as above.

Informal Dispute Resolution

Graduate students should be encouraged to go to the departmental director of MFA graduate studies, the committee chairperson, or the department chairperson for conflict resolution, if appropriate. Students are also welcome to make an appointment with one of the Graduate School deans to voice complaints or concerns (can be requested through info@gradschool.utah.edu or by calling 801.585.5529).

A student may elect to discuss the situation with the University Ombudsman's Office, which provides dispute resolution, resources, and the potential for mediation—more information: <https://academic-affairs.utah.edu/office-for-faculty/facultyombudsman>.

Conflict Dispute with TA Faculty Mentor

If a graduate student has issues with their TA Faculty Mentor, we encourage them to discuss the situation with the Faculty Mentor, referencing the TA Responsibility form. If the graduate student has already spoken with the faculty mentor and believes different resolutions are necessary, we encourage them to contact the director of MFA graduate studies or the department chairperson about the issue. If necessary, the DoGS and department chairperson may assign the TA to another faculty member for the remainder of the semester. A new TA responsibilities form will be filled out between the new mentor and the student.

Conflict Dispute with Independent Study Hours Faculty

Before registering for independent studio hours with a faculty member, the graduate student and faculty member meet, discuss course objectives, and then fill out an Independent Study Contract. This contract is taken to the graduate coordinator, who provides the student with the registration numbers once the student has paid any necessary course fees.

If a conflict arises between a graduate student and their instructor, the department encourages them to discuss the matter with the faculty and reassess their contract. The contract and course objectives may be amended as needed. If it is within the first few weeks of the semester, and the student has spoken with the faculty member about their concerns with no resolution, the student may drop the course. It is up to the student to maintain the minimum number of credit hours required for their financial situation. If the student decides to drop after the last day to drop, around six weeks after classes begin, the student can meet with the director of MFA graduate studies or the department chairperson to discuss the possibility of having another faculty member step in to complete the hours. If another faculty member agrees, the graduate student will meet with that person and review their independent hours contract. At the end of the semester, the new instructor will provide the final grade to the previous instructor, who will report it to the registrar's office.

Formal Dispute Resolution

The University procedures for formal disputes can be found in Policy 6-400, which also covers the process of Academic Appeal (<https://regulations.utah.edu/academics/6-400.php>). This information is provided so students are aware of the process.

Student Safety

Your safety is our top priority. In an emergency, dial 911 or seek a nearby emergency phone (throughout campus). Report any crimes or suspicious people to 801-585-COPS; this number will get you to a dispatch officer at the University of Utah Department of Public Safety (DPS; dps.utah.edu). If at any time, you would like to be escorted by a security officer to or from areas on campus, DPS will help — just give me a call.

The University of Utah seeks to provide a safe and healthy experience for students, employees, and others using campus facilities. In support of this goal, the University has established confidential resources and support services to assist students who may have been affected by harassment, abusive relationships, or sexual misconduct. A detailed listing of University Resources for campus safety can be found at <https://registrar.utah.edu/handbook/campussafety.php>

Your well-being is key to your personal safety. If you are in crisis, call 801-587-3000; help is close. The university has additional excellent resources to promote emotional and physical wellness, including the Counseling Center (<https://counselingcenter.utah.edu>), and the Wellness Center (<https://wellness.utah.edu>). Counselors and advocates in these centers can help guide you to other resources to address a range of issues, including substance abuse and addiction.

Graduate Student Facility Responsibilities

Hazardous Materials Handling

- All hazardous materials will be handled/disposed of in accordance with EPA/EHS standards/guidelines. Campus guidelines can be found at; <http://ehs.utah.edu/>.
- Aerosols, solvents, waxes, and other toxic media should be used in appropriate ventilation booths in Rms. 354 – 180 (woodshop).

- Solvents are to be disposed of in appropriately labeled (paint thinner, lacquer, etc.) containers. Contact facility supervisor Shawn Porter if the correct container is not immediately available.
- Lids will remain on solvent containers when not in use. EPA considers evaporating solvents a type of hazardous waste that needs to be controlled.
- It is strongly recommended that students using volatile, off-gassing, or evaporating solvents/materials get correctly fitted with an appropriate canister-type respirator.
- It is strongly recommended that students use respiratory protection when using materials that generate/create airborne particulates (dust, smoke).

Graduate Studios

- Graduate studio upkeep/general cleaning is the responsibility of graduate students occupying the space.
- Studio occupants must patch, paint, and clean upon moving out of or into a new studio space.
- Common areas (sinks/corridors) will be kept clean and clear of debris, materials, and artwork.
- It is recommended that you use a floor covering, drop cloth, masking paper, etc., to protect the work area floor from drips, spills, and so on.

Woodshop and Classroom Lab Spaces

- All personnel who wish to use the woodshop must complete a 3-hour safety orientation with Shawn Porter (Facility Supervisor) @ 801 581 at 6065 to schedule a safety orientation.
- Refer to the hours of operation for the woodshop posted on the door.
- The woodshop is closed from 12:30 AM to 6:30 AM.
- Personnel are NOT allowed to work in the woodshop unattended. You must have a “shop buddy” whenever working in the woodshop.
- Keep woodshop/lab spaces clean at all times
- Adhere to safety procedures/guidelines associated with equipment
- Do not leave artwork unattended in lab spaces for 24-48 Hrs.
- When you are teaching a class, Undergraduates are to be instructed to clean/remove trash from the classroom before leaving the space

Reporting Safety Issues

If you have questions or concerns or see violations, please report those to Shawn Porter (Facility Supervisor) at sop1@utah.edu or 801.581.6065.

If the department has employed a shop technician, they are also available to help with any safety concerns during Friday and Saturday shop hours.
